BEAUTY, HEALTH, and a GOOD SET of TEETH,
Easily to be obtained by using of
NEWTON'S RESTORATIVE TOOTH POWDER,
Patronized and used by
Their Majesties and the rest of the Royal Family,
And Sold by T. JENKINS, Printer, Swansea,

MR. NEWTON has the honour to acquaint the Nobility, Gentry, and the Ladies in general of Europe, and the south of Wales, that having honoured with the patronage and support of Their Majesties, and the rest of the Royal Family, the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland and Lady, as well as by most of the distinguished Nobility and Gentry in the United Kingdom, and being justly sensible of the many obligations he is under to the ingenuity of the faculty, in not only using but recommending generally the use of his Tooth Powder, combined, in the most correct manner, to restore his sinking child to them; and though he is surrounded by the most inveterate enemies, (envy and the envenomed tooth) to destroy the shapes of such unprincipled artists, and to answer them as that he still continues to supply his customers, Venders with his Tooth Powder, genuine, though his only wholesale Agents, Messrs. Mare and Haines, No. 66, St. Paul's Church-yard, London, proprietors of the only Elixir of that great and learned physician, the late Sir Richard Jebb, M. D. to their perfect satisfaction. It is so pleasant in its use as it is excellent in its effects. It speedily renders the Teeth smooth and white; the gums healthful and firm; eradicates the most inveterate scurvy in the gums; and by using it regularly, according to the printed directions sealed round each box. Mr. Newton, the only proprietor, will betrell one thousand pounds, if ever an instance occurs of any person having injured his Teeth, or a Tooth decay, to the latest period of life.

Mr. Newton hopes by inserting the following Letter of a gentleman well known in Swansea and its vicinity, will give an ultimate demonstration of the superior efficacy of his Tooth Powder:—

"Mr. Wattis Lewis has received a box of Mr. Newton's Tooth Powder, which was sent him yesterday, being most decidedly afflicted with the Tooth-ach; it afforded him almost instant relief. He was about sending his servant for another, when Mr. Newton's agent called with one (in case of a return) as he thinks it the most valuable medicine for the Tooth-ach he ever experienced. The relief Sir W. has received, has induced him to send Mr. Newton one guinea, which he desires Mr. Newton will be so favourable to accept, and shall feel himself particularly happy in recommending all his friends to make use of it for the future.

"Grosvenor-street, Grosvenor-square, Dec. 15th, 1803.

To Mr. Newton, Great Russel-street, Bedford-square."

Also, for the Face and Skin, is particularly recommended

NEWTON'S
ROYAL SWEET-SCENTED LUPIN SOAP,

the only article at present known to make and preserve a beautiful skin; prevents the ill effects from chapping, and roughness, so hot weather it removes all freckles, sunburns, and tans, or particularly recommended for gentlemen to shave with who have tender faces. Also,

Newton's Warranted Tooth Brushes,

Sold separately to one with his Tooth Powder. The great superiority of common tooth brushes is, that they are so hard prepared, that as a few times using the hairs fall out, and in a few times more the gums are worn away, as well as very frequently to use.—Mr. Newton warrants all his Tooth Brushes.

The above articles are sold genuine, wholesale only, by Messrs. Haines and Hayward, No. 66, St. Paul's Church-yard, London; and retail (where Mr. Newton's agents are not established) by Berry, Hartley; Lloyd, Liverpool; Cooke, Dublin; Porter, Manchester; J. Bird, Cardiff; W. Davis, Merthyr Tidvil; J. Daniel, Carmarthen; J. Peter, Haverfordwest; J. Rogers, Denbigh; Jones, Wrexham; Hughes, Ludlow; Salter, Oswestry; Griffiths, Bishop's Castle; Allen, Hereford; Yates, Monmouth; E. Jones, Gloucester; W. Phillips, Bristol; and by all Venders of Patent Medicines in bottles at 1s. 1½d. and 2s. each, duly excepting those who may be last supplied pamphlets of remarkable cures.

CAUTION AT THE PRESENT SEASON.
By his Majesty's Royal Letters Patent.

DR. SIBLY'S RE-ANIMATING SOLAR TINCTURE is particularly recommended during the present varied Season of heat and cold; which, as a preventative of fevers, a strengthener of the nerves, and a general preserver of health, has no rival. Its effects on decayed constitutions, whether brought on by indisposition, or otherwise, are self-evident; and the many cases in which it has completely succeeded, have powerfully recommended it to numberless families.

EXTRAORDINARY CASE.

Mr. JOHN SMITH, of Wakefield, No. 9, opera, was seized with a dreadful fever, which, when it abated, left an inflammation on his lungs, which became ulcerated, and he was reduced to a mere skeleton. In this deplorable situation, which had lasted all medical skill, a friend, who had some time before been nearly as bad, advised him to try the SOLAR TINCTURE, which had cured him. Following the counsel of his friend, Mr. S. purchased two bottles, which immediately relieved, and shortly after entirely removed, his complaints, and restored him to his former health. Mr. S. now says, he must have sunk into the grave, had he not taken the valuable medicine, and is willing to bear testimony to the truth of the above.

This incomparable preparation is sold by T. Jenkins, Printer of this Paper; J. Bird, Cardiff; W. M. Davis, Merthyr Tidvil; J. Daniel, Carmarthen; J. Peter, Haverfordwest; Wilmot, Pembroke; Hughes, Kidgeran; Watts, Bristol; Jones, Gloucester; Wilmot, Pembroke; and by all other reputable Venders of Medicines.

For BRUISES, SPRAINS, RHEUMATISMS, &c.
DR. STEERS'S OPODELDOC.

CAUTION.—On the outside of the wrapper of each bottle of the real Medicine a Stamp is fixed, in which is engraved, "F. Newbery, No. 45, St. Paul's;" and over the neck of the bottle a Label is pasted, with these words, "Dr. Steers' Opodeldoc, prepared by F. Newbery." All those which are sold without these designations are gross counterfeits.

The public are requested to attend to this caution, in consequence of an imposition which has been practised by certain Venders of Medicine, who, under cover of a connection in trade with Mr. Newbery's house, have not only sold in their own shops, but travelling merely for the purpose, nominated through the retail dealers in all parts of the kingdom, large quantities of a spurious preparation of this Opodeldoc, by the bills and directions of which the names of Dr. Steers, of Charing-cross, and Mr. Newbery, of St. Paul's Church-yard, are made use of, in order the more completely to deceive unwary purchasers.

The genuine Opodeldoc is prepared and sold only by F. Newbery and Sons, No. 45, St. Paul's, on the Coach-way, a few doors from Cheapside, London, in bottles, price 2s. 6d. each, duly stamped as said above by F. Newbery, Printer of this Paper; and by the following Venders in the country who offer the real Medicine under its appropriate Stamp.

Of the Printer of this Paper may also be had, genuine, from Mr. Newbery's warehouse, PARREGORIC LOZENGES.

RHEUMATISM, PAINS IN THE LIMBS, &c.
Dr. Bateman's Pectoral Drops.

THE Public never had a more valuable Medicine presented to them, than these inestimable Drops, as a certain cure in Rheumatic and Chronic Complaints, violent Colds, and incipient Pains in the Limbs, which often in the most violent fits of the Gout; in short, it has now been so long established, and its virtues so well known to the public in general, that it would be needless to say more in its praise; but great as the good effects are from taking the true and genuine BATEMAN'S DROPS, the consequence is resulting from taking the counterfeit sorts, too frequently as much the reverse, the ill effects of which have been often experienced; it is therefore recommended to every one to take particular notice, that the words "Dr. Bateman's Drops" are blown in the glass of every bottle, and the same also is contained in the stamp affixed to each bottle, and signed at the top of each bill of directions; without these no genuine.

Sold by the following Retail Venders, Messrs. Davey and Co. price 1s. 1½d. per bottle, duly stamped as said above by T. Jenkins, Printer to this Paper, and J. Edwards, Swansea; J. Rees, Neath; D. Daniel, J. Rees, and J. Lloyd-Jones, Carmarthen; D. Owen, Haverfordwest; J. Rees, Cardigan; Mrs. Rees, Llandovery; W. and T. Watts, Brecon; R. Hill, Knighton; Beeton and Sweetman, Ruy; A. HEALTH AND LONGEVITY.
DR. JAMES'S ANALEPTIC PILLS.

TO obviate the imposition which have long been practised in regard to this Medicine, a recital is requisite; let us by favour of the Commissioners of the Stamp-Office, separate plates have been prepared for Mr. Stopler's use, with the name engraved in the stamps, the imitation of which would be a capital offence, the genuine preparation may now be implicitly accredited; if it is not found recommended in every respect, it may now be known whether the fault lies with the Medicine or the Patient, unless they observe the words, "F. Newbery, No. 45, St. Paul's," printed in the Stamps.

The superior excellence of these Pills in RHEUMATISMS and COLDS, as well as in other complaints to which the human frame is liable, from the virtue-bodies of our climate, is universally acknowledged. They are admirably calculated for Bilious, and other disorders of the stomach and bowels; for Head-Ache occasioned by indigestion; and for preventing Fevers and Apoplexies, as when the system is once free from impurities, it should be hard to shew other every evening, and again every night and morning; and thus their well-known characteristic of preventing longevity will be maintained; for by assisting nature in the due discharge of the animal functions, it is the best preventative of disease, as it wants, in continual repair, they preserve the body in health and vigour, and prevent premature decay. They require no particular confinement or attention to diet.

They are sold by F. Newbery and Sons, at the warehouse for Dr. James's Powder, No. 45, St. Paul's, London; in boxes price 1s. 6d. each, stamp included; or as in one large box for the use of large families only in the country who offer the real Medicine under its appropriate Stamp.

Sold also by T. Jenkins, Printer of this Paper; J. Bird, Cardiff; W. M. Davis, Merthyr Tidvil; J. Daniel, Carmarthen; and J. Peter, Haverfordwest.

To THOMAS TAYLOR, Esq. No. 8, New Bridge-street, London.

HONOURED SIR, Edinburgh, March 19, 1801.

I BEG leave to inform you, that ever since the year 1790, I had been afflicted with the LUES VENEREA, which baffled all the skill and every species of medicine prescribed for the most eminent of the faculty; and, unchanging, several courses of salivation, and, unchanging, several courses of salivation, and, unchanging, several courses of mercurial ointment, which I underwent in the Royal Infirmary, with little relief, would appear to be of the most inveterate nature. In the spring of last year my disorder had got to such a head, as nearly to put a period to my existence. I had a large ulcer on my right leg, which was of the worst kind; my throat were inside and as a confirmed consumptive; my right was already pointed, and had been in a state of ulceration for the seven years, my body also was large nodes on it, were very much discoloured, and my whole system undermining pace, particularly when warm in bed, as nearly to deprive me of rest; in this lamentable state I was recommended by Mr. J. Thomson, surgeon, of this place, to your PILLS, which I have to take your LEADER'S PATENT PILLS, which I began to do on the 20th of May, in the course of a fortnight I began to receive benefit, on little more than a month the ulceration on my head was entirely healed—soon after, the sores on my legs healed also; however, considerable discolouration in the skin, and pain in the bones of the legs, which, by the advice of Mr. Thomson, I took a little longer perseverance in your inestimable Medicine, which, indeed, the nodes disappearing, the skin regaining its natural colour, and my health, greatly afflicted with long confinement, enjoying several courses of salivation, I do, therefore, by your honour's desire, most cheerfully now bear all my former complaints—have recovered my former spirits and strength, and am become fully and fat, to which I have been a stranger for many years, and am convinced of all who know me; I am at a loss in what terms to express my gratitude, but beg you, for the good of others suffering misfortune, to make it as public as possible, as I shall on every occasion, in so doing you will gratify my wishes.

Sir, your grateful, obedient, very humble servant,

ALEX. MURKED.
